Executive summary

Three reasons this offer reflects the market.

- 1. The price assumes the wrong size class. 35 Jonathan is a 1,100–1,500 sq ft bungalow. The comparable Uxbridge detached homes that have actually sold in this size + style cohort transacted between $830k and $900k (median ~$865k). The neighbouring $1.2M+ sales the listing implicitly anchors to are all 2,000–3,500 sq ft two-storey homes — literally 2× to 3× the size. And the same-size active listing at 87 Cedar Street N is asking ~$900k — with a large yard, in-ground pool, and finished income-generating walkout suite that 35 Jonathan doesn't offer.
- 2. The list price has been tested by the market four times and rejected each time. Between Sep 2025 and today the home has been listed for a cumulative 198 days across three consecutive listings (Terminated → Suspended → Active) without an executed offer. The market is telling the seller this home does not transact above $1.0M.
- 3. The market hasn't grown since the seller bought in 2021. The Uxbridge median sold price in Aug 2021 (when 35 Jonathan transacted) was $1.063M. Today (May 2026) it is $972,000 — −9% from Aug 2021 and −21% from the May 2022 peak. A list price of $1,149,900 implies the home appreciated 17% on a market that depreciated 9%.

The framing: We are not trying to extract a discount. We are offering a number the same-size, same-style comparable sales record genuinely supports. A sale at $880k is above the matched-cohort median, preserves a substantial portion of the seller's 2021 cost basis, and reflects four years of flat-to-declining market conditions.

The Uxbridge market story, 2021 → today

Median sold price for the entire Uxbridge community (HouseSigma, 60 months).

The market is flat-to-down over the full hold period. The Uxbridge median was $1,063,000 the month 35 Jonathan sold (Aug 2021). It peaked at $1,225,000 in May 2022, then corrected. Today (May 2026) it sits at $972,000: -9% from Aug 2021 and -21% from the 2022 peak. Of the four direct matches by size, style and age, sold prices clustered between $830k and $900k with a median of $865k and a median $/sq ft of $665. Our $880k offer sits above the cohort median and at the cohort's median $/sq ft — it is genuinely the right number for this size, not a discount.

The active comp that closes the case: 87 Cedar Street N

A same-size, same-area Uxbridge detached home currently on the market. It is amenity-superior to 35 Jonathan and priced ~$250,000 less.

ADDRESS (UXBRIDGE)	STYLE	SQ FT	LIST PRICE	$/SQ FT (mid 1,300 sf)	WHAT IT OFFERS ABOVE 35 JONATHAN
87 Cedar Street N	Backsplit 3	1,100– 1,500	~$900,000	$692	Large yard · in-ground pool · finished walkout basement suite (income-generating)

ADDRESS (UXBRIDGE)	STYLE	SQ FT	LIST PRICE	$/SQ FT (mid 1,300 sf)	WHAT IT OFFERS ABOVE 35 JONATHAN
35 Jonathan Street	Bungalow	1,100– 1,500	$1,149,900	$885	Subject — 120 days on market

87 Cedar Street N is the live market's clearest verdict on 35 Jonathan's price. Same size class, same area, currently asking ~$900,000 — and bringing a large yard, an in-ground pool, and a finished, income-generating walkout basement suite to the table. A buyer with $900k–$1.15M to spend, looking in Uxbridge for a 1,100–1,500 sq ft detached home, chooses 87 Cedar every time. For 35 Jonathan to compete, it has to be priced below 87 Cedar — not $250k above it.

For contrast: the larger-home cohort the list price implicitly uses

Same area, but materially larger homes (1.5× to 3× the floor area). These sales should not drive 35 Jonathan's price — they're a different product.

ADDRESS (UXBRIDGE)	STYLE	SQ FT	AGE (YRS)	SOLD PRICE	$/SQ FT
81 Ewen Drive	Bungalow	1,500–2,000	31–50	$850,000	$486

5 Brownscombe Crescent	2-Storey	2,000–2,500	31–50	$1,200,000	$533
67 Barton Lane	2-Storey	2,000–2,500	—	$1,200,000	$533
3 Coral Creek Crescent	2-Storey	2,000–2,500	16–30	$1,200,000	$533
15 Glenn Gould Crescent N	2-Storey	3,000–3,500	—	$1,300,000	$400

* 11 Joseph St N is the same nominal floor-area band but a raised bungalow, which is effectively two living levels and trades at a corresponding premium.

The decisive $/sq ft argument. The current list of $1,149,900 implies ~$885/sq ft for 35 Jonathan. The four directly-comparable smaller-format sold homes transacted at $638–$692/sq ft (median $665). The larger 2,000–3,500 sq ft homes the listing price tries to reach actually transacted at $400–$533/sq ft. No size class in this market supports $885/sq ft. Our $880k offer prices 35 Jonathan at exactly the matched- cohort median $/sq ft.

HOME INSPECTION

Standard, time-limited

In a market where many buyer offers are contingent on the sale of an existing home, our offer is not. The seller can plan with confidence that closing won't be held hostage by a third-party transaction. Combined with the offered quick close, the seller's path to liquidity is short and certain.

The ask

We are ready to formalize this offer immediately. The data above is intended to support a constructive conversation rather than to relitigate the listing strategy. We understand the seller's perspective, and we recognize they sit below their 2021 acquisition price in this scenario. Our position is simply that the comparable evidence does not support a higher number, and the 198 cumulative days at $1.15M+ across three listings reflect the same conclusion.

We would welcome a counter at any number the seller believes is defensible against this comparable record.
